

How Law Responds to Challenges of Digital Era

Table of Contents.....	2
Editorial	4
Laura Bachňáková Rózenfeldová Illegal content classification in light of the Slovak case-law.....	5
Balázs Fábián The impact of artificial intelligence on the European labour market – polarisation, challenges and opportunities	20
Miroslava Franc Kupcová Responsibility for null and void decisions made by artificial intelligence.....	36
Jakub Handrlica - Kristýna Šopková - Lucie Vonásková The new Council of Europe Framework Convention and the future of intelligent robots in administrative law.....	52
Lukáš Jančát Automation of processes in public administration in selected member states of the European Union.....	66
András Lapsánszky - Gábor Hulkó - Péter Bálint Király From private regulation to public impact: Rethinking platform governance through digital constitutionalism.....	91
Alan Lengyel Automated decision-making in administrative penal matters.....	107
Peter Molitoris Limits of the use of artificial intelligence in the alternative resolution of administrative disputes.....	120

Diana Repiščáková

*Removal of illegal content online- conflicts between Slovak and EU legislation.....*140

Tibor Seman

*Risks of partial exploitation of artificial intelligence potential in administrative proceedings.....*155

Vladimír Sharp - Jan Nešpor - Eliška Klimentová

*Automation of administrative proceedings in the Czech Republic: Critical reflections on the draft “ADM amendment” to the administrative procedure code.....*170

Vladimíra Žofčinová - Viktória Adamov Kráľová

*Digitalization of the labour market: European Union measures to ensure legal protection for employees*189